VOL. XVII, No. 3. {SEVENTEENTH YEAR} GLOUCESTER, MASS., JULY 19, 1913. PRICE FIVE CENTS

The Rockport Shore

THE guests of the Ocean View were afforded an incident somewhat out of the ordinary Saturday morning, although it is said to be not an uncommon occurence in some circles in hoteldom.

A clerical gentleman from the Nutmeg state registered several days before, having what he expressed as a delightful stay.

Saturday morning, while all were at breakfast, he departed with his suit case. Mrs. Day, the landlady, happened to catch a glimpse of him from the window of the dining room, as she was arising to come up stairs and asked the young woman clerk if the reverend gentleman had paid his bill. He had not.

Outside, the porter, a husky youth, was leading a diminutive skye terrier, the property of one of the woman guests of the hotel, giving the pampered darling a sniff of the fresh morning air.

The porter was hastily summoned, given a bill of the account of the departed guest, who was speeding on toward the street railway station, and told to collect. That functionary returned with the reverend gentleman who paid his bill and then departed. Apparently the incident was closed. Monday, the morning mail brought forth the following missive, written on the stationery of a well known hostelry, of a city not a thousand miles from Gloucester, which read in part, as follows:

"My dear Mrs. Day:

"I hope your pleasant little clerk has recovered from her heart palpitation caused by my exit from the Ocean View this morning, burdened with my travelling impedimenta and with my bill unpaid (unpaid underscored.) I took my bag, etc., to the waiting station, intending to inquire from those in authority as to the exact running schedule of the cars, expecting, of course, to return. On my way back I was met by your blue-shirted hotel bouncer with a ferocious white bloodhound in leash, frantically fanning the air with what proved to be my bill. Had I 'intended to skip my board,' the formidable array of man and man-eater would have brought me to a better mind. As it is, the shock to my nervous system is probably about equal to that experienced by the young woman clerk behind your desk when she saw me running away from my just debts. I am sorry to leave your pleasant hotel without saying goodbye in person and wishing you good luck for the season of 1913."

"In case you miss any furniture from No. 15, up under the roof, you have my business---or is it professional---address and I will gladly settle for 119 cents on the dollar---if you will send a man minus that bloodhound to collect. I must arrange my sermon, to be hurled from the pulpit of St.....'s church here, tomorrow morning, at the heads and in the faces of my devoted listeners."

Honestly yours,

If you want to see a genuine "man eating bloodhound held in leash" and "a burly blue-

"THE demand for accommodations both cottage and hotel continues to far outstrip the demand!" Regulation press agent yarn? Not a bit of it. I was in Architect Hanson's office on Main street the other day. He has drawn the plans and is closing the contracts for the immediate erection of five summer cottages at Bass Rocks at a total cost of $85,000 and this is not all. Look farther down this column and learn how the Hotel Rockaway at Rocky neck has been turning 'em away and has commandeered the five cottages named for the overflow and is looking for more. This place East Gloucester is like a rangy boy which outgrows his clothing before the creases have worn out of the trousers. In 15 years more it will house for the summer fully 15,000 people.

INTEREST in the new one design cat boat class continues unabated and the coming of this fleet has stirred up a genuine enthusiasm in things yachting and socially generally. The fact that the races can be seen from the club house and river bank close at hand and every move of the yachtsmen watched, is a feature which in all probability means the permanency of this class and course. Miss Gertrude Wiggin, daughter of Com. Harry Wiggin, has scored three consecutive wins in the Catspaw thus far and the speculation is as to whether she makes a clean season's sweep.

There has been some good tennis on the club courts during the week, Miss Winnifred Campbell of New Jersey being the winner in the

Magnolia

THE approach of mid-summer finds the usual number at Magnolia. More and more the Oceanside overshadows the place. Where formerly there were three large hotels, now there is but one, and here is centered the social life of the colony. There is not much of a story to tell this week differing from that of the weeks preceding except that the tide is swelling in toward the flood, threatening to submerge all accommodations before August is reached.

Preliminary announcement is made of a tennis tournament on the Oceanside courts during the third week in August at which several of the best players in the country will compete for handsome cups provided by the Oceanside management.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Morgan and Miss Margaret Corlies, Oceanside guests left Wednesday for a few days trip to the South shore.

Samuel F. Houston and family of Chestnut Hill, Penn., who have been at Magnolia for a short stay, departed for their summer place, Clapboard island, Me., Wednesday.

W. T. White and family, Miss Madeline and Reginald White of Lowell have returned to Magnolia for another season. The Whites have been coming to Magnolia for many years.

Miss Margaret Curry is visiting friends at Sewickley, Penn.

The management of the Oceanside has arranged a series of artistic dance recitals, The Dansant, the first of which will be presented next Friday afternoon from 4 to 6, the artists being Mr. Chidsey and Mlle. Judson, continuing each successive Tuesday and Friday until the series is finished.

Gen. S. W. Fountain, U. S. A., Mrs. Fountain and Miss Fountain of Philadelphia are new comers to the Oceanside. They have apartments in the West Flume cottage for the season.

Mrs. Robert L. Stockton and maid and Mrs. William S. Dayton of Trenton are making an extended stay of several weeks at the Oceanside.

Mrs. Reginald Gray and son, Reginald, and maid, of Chestnut Hill, have returned for their annual visit to the Oceanside.

Mrs. J. K. Secor, Virginia Secor and maid, of Toledo, guests of the Oceanside for several years past arrived Wednesday and have, as usual, apartments at Breakers cottage on Cobblestone beach.

Mrs. M. L. Higgins of Boston has joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lawrence who are spending the season here.

Mrs. H. R. Romeyn and Mrs. Charles Finney Cox of New York are former patrons of the Oceanside who arrived this week for a stay into September.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Henry Depew, Miss Catherine Drayton and Miss Catherine Winner and Miss Katherine Ginna of Plainfield, N. J., have returned to the Oceanside for an annual visit.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Collins and Mrs. H. C. Reith motored on from New York for a several weeks' stay at the Oceanside.

For sale at all the summer hotels, at Shurtleff's news stand, Main street.

TO ADVERTISERS

The CAPE ANN SHORE, now in its seventeenth consecutive season, is the only summer resort publication on Cape Ann. It reaches every section of the cape, and is the only means of communication of the kind between the merchants and the summer residents. Therefore its value as an advertising medium is self-evident. It contains each week a full and complete account of the social happenings of the summer resort section. It occupies a place by itself in the advertising field, reaching the most profitable customers along the North Shore. Advertisers should remember these facts.

Rights of the Public for Protection from Offensive Noises or Smells Upheld

A case of the greatest importance to summer residents was decided in their favor recently by a decision of a judge of the Supreme court of Massachusetts.

General Adelbert Ames, who has a suumer home at Bay View, with others of his family, brought suit against the Rockport granite company, to restrain the latter from making unnecessary and offensive noises in the operation of its stone working plant which adjoins the Ames and other summer resort property.

It was alleged that the noise of the air drills in the sheds of the company were annoying and destructive to health. The case was hard fought on both sides, each being represented by competent legal talent. Testimony was taken in this city two years ago before a master who reported in favor of the Ames contention and awarded $2,000 damages. The decision of the master was affirmed and on appeal the supreme court of the state again confirms this.

No one familiar with the situation doubts but that the noise is annoying. The works are bisected by the main highway at Bay View and the sharp, staccato ringing of the metal drills on the flinty granite, like a group of gatlings volley the sounds on the ears long before the sheds are reached.

The Ames, while insistent in this matter, were fair. They pointed out that the company could finish its stone a mile inland at its quarries where it was produced and thus the offense complained of would be minimized. The finished product could then be freighted by the railroad of the company to its pier and shipped, which will probably be the solution of the controversy.

The important point of this decision is that the principle is laid down that no one, even in the pursuit of legitimate business, may so conduct a plant, especially in a residential district of high class, in a manner which will annoy the abutters. People come to Cape Ann for rest and quiet and within reasonable limits the courts have decided that they shall not be denied this here or elsewhere.

Similarly the state has been active in getting after the owners of noisy motor boats and this one time nuisance which threatened to drive many from the seashore is now reduced to a minimum.

Some 25 years ago the late Colonel Jonas H. French, who occupied the residence, now the property of Cardinal O'Connell, adjoining the Ames property, put up a great fight against the offensive smells from the fish glue factories, which in those days literally stunk to high heavens.

An appeal was made to the state board of health and the companies concerned stated that they intended to minimize the nuisance. The late William A. Pew also brought a similar suit.

However, within the past two or three years, the glue manufacturing companies appear to have satisfactorily solved this problem and there is very little cause for complaint on this score although occasionally the wind brings a faint reminder of these old time conditions.

More and more the courts are upholding the rights of the community as against the aggressions of any corporation which conducts offensive or unnecessarily noisome business. If the stone, glue or other business cannot be conducted without unneccessary noise or smell in thickly settled localities they must be moved where there is no objection and there are places for them.

The local board of health on petition of summer residents of East Gloucester and in line with this principle has restricted materially the right to keep swine in that locality.

It is interesting to note in this connection that Gen. Ames, who has so successfully waged this suit which promises to make Cape Ann or its north side more desirable for a summer resort, married the daughter of the late Gen. B. F. Butler. Gen. Butler came here in the 70's and established the very works, afterwards acquired by the Rockport granite company, which his son-in-law has succeded in branding legally, as far as its stone working department is concerned, a nuisance. In the general's day this work of finishing the stone was done by hand and the noise was just as apparent then as in recent years. Then the general came here and built the stone villa in which Gen. Ames now resides, was elected to Congress and cut quite a figure in national affairs. Many of the public buildings of the country in Washington, New York and Boston and elsewhere, were constructed from granite from this Bay View quarry cut and finished here. In fact the general practically brought this branch of the business into existence.

There is no question but what Gen. Ames has rendered the public, and the summer resort interest especially, a great service. It costs time, money and trouble to get after a big corporation in matters of this kind and there are few who care to tackle such a job.

Mrs. Roland Ames Robbins and Miss Gladys and Roland Ames Robbins, Jr., who were guests at the Oceanside last season returned Saturday and will stay until the close of the season.

Prominent among the week's arrivals are Mrs. Bulkeley Wells and maid, Misses Barbara and Dorothy, Bulkeley Livermore Wells and Mrs. Well's father, Col. Thomas L. Livermore, former president of the Calumet & Hecla, well known Bostonians and former cottagers at Magnolia who for some years past resided in Colorado. They have been renewing old acquaintances along the North Shore.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Williamson of Quincy, Ill., and Mrs. Robert F. Day, two children and governess, of Springfield, Ill., arrived at the Oceanside Monday for the rest of the summer.

Horatio H. Slater of Boston and Warden Wilson of Indianapolis, are registered at the Oceanside for a week's stay.

Mrs. Charles D. Callery and maid, and son, John B. Callery, of Pittsburgh, who last year occupied the Covel cottage, are among the week's registrations at the Oceanside. They have apartments until the close of the season in the Highland cottage.

Mrs. C. C. Woodworth and Miss Woodworth of Rochester, N. Y., have come to the Oceanside for a several weeks stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Lockwood and son, Chester W. Lockwood, of Washington, arrived at the Oceanside Thursday for the rest of the season.

Mrs. Percifer F. Smith and maid, of Pittsburg, after an absence of several seasons has returned to the Oceanside for a month's visit with apartments in the Sea Vista cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Greggs of Cleveland are numbered among the new comers to Magnolia, having secured accommodations for the rest of the season.

AUTOMOBILISTS, ATTENTION!

The attention of all automobilists is called to the following provisions of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts Relative to Motor Vehicle Laws, Acts of 1909, Chap. 534, Section 14:

SECTION 14. Every person operating a motor vehicle shall bring the vehicle and the motor propelling it immediately to a stop when approaching a horse or other draft animal being led, ridden or driven, if such animal appears to be frightened and if the person in charge thereof shall signal so to do; and, if travelling in the opposite direction to that in which such animal is proceeding, said vehicle shall remain stationary so long as may be reasonable to allow such horse or animal to pass; or, if travelling in the same direction, the person operating shall use reasonable caution in thereafter passing such horse or other animal. In approaching or passing a car of a street railway which has been stopped to allow passengers to alight or embark, the operator of every motor vehicle shall slow down and if it be necessary for the safety of the public he shall bring said vehicle to a full stop. Upon approaching a pedestrian who is upon the travelled part of any way and not upon a sidewalk, or where the operator's view is obstructed either upon approaching an intersecting way or a curve or corner in a way, every person operating a motor vehicle shall slow down and give a timely signal with his bell, horn or other device for signalling:

Provided, that in the thickly settled parts of a city or town no bell, horn or other device for signalling shall be sounded so as to make a harsh, objectionable or unreasonable noise, except in the case of fire and police department vehicles and ambulances; and provided, further, that no operator of any motor vehicle shall at any time permit any unreasonable amount of smoke to escape from said motor vehicle, nor shall said operator at any time permit said motor vehicle to make any unnecessary noise, by cutting out the muffler, or otherwise.

The driver of any motor vehicle on any highway approaching a crossing of ways, shall slow down and keep to the right of the intersection of the centres of both ways, when turning to the right, and shall pass to the right of the intersection of the centres of said ways before turning to the left.

Manchester-by-the-Sea

The extensive dredging operations that have been going on for several years in the harbor are beginning to show results. An increasing number of large pleasure yachts is noted each year. Many of the smaller boats are making an anchorage at the head of the river outside the railroad bridge. J. Pierpont Morgan Jr's yacht Corsair has been in the harbor several days this week Mrs. Morgan being a guest of her mother Mrs. Henry S. Grew. C. Howard Clark's yacht Savarona is also frequently at anchorage here.

Mrs. Boylston A. Beal opened her cottage at Smith Point last Tuesday afternoon for a meeting in the interests of library work in China. Fifty or more members of the North Shore summer colony were addressed by Miss M. A. Wood of Wuchang, China.

Mrs. Jere Abbott, mother of Gordon Abbott, met with a serious mishap this week at her summer home at West Manchester. Mrs. Abbott slipped and fell to the floor in such a way as to double her foot under her, breaking a bone in her ankle.

The gardens of F. P. Frazer at West Manchester are attracting much attention. They are filled with wonderful flower beds which will soon be at their best. Mr. Frazer is taking much interest in dairy farming and has a fine herd of Guernsies. In addition to his home farm he recently purchased several farms in Ipswich and has just completed one of the finest dairy barns in the State.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Denegre entertained a dinner party at her cottage, Villa Crest, Tuesday evening, covers being laid for ten.

The annual gathering of the Elder Brethren is to be held at Tuck's Point, July 23.

Rev. Albert Peterson of Lancaster, Mass., occupied the pulpit at the Unitarian church last Sunday.

The society event of the week was the wedding Thursday of Miss Gladys Munn, daughter of Mrs. C. A. Munn, and Charles Minot Amory. The wedding was followed by a large reception at the summer home of the Munns on Masconomo street.

The Payne Whitneys have the cottage of the late Charles Head for the season.

Mrs. William F. Draper and daughter, Miss Marguerite Preston Draper, sailed on the Mauretania last Thursday from Liverpool, and came to their cottage here at once upon landing.

Maj. Henry L. Higginson addressed a meeting at the Beverly Farms Baptist church Sunday afternoon, giving personal reminiscences of the battle of Gettysburg. The Manchester Boy Scouts attended in a body.

A handicap golf competion was the golfing feature Saturday at the Essex County Club. Parker W. Whittemore's 76-0-76 card won low gross score medal. Samuel Carr and A. F. Southland tied for the best net at 76.

Gurnee Munn and Mrs. Thos. K. Laughlin won the mixed two some started Wednesday. In the finals they defeated Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Russell, at match play, 2 and 1. The scores of the handicap:

Riverview and Wolf Hill

This section skirting the Squam river midway between the city proper and Squam, was among the earliest resorted to on the cape especially Wolf hill. Recent improvements, as the dredging of the river, making it possible to navigate the river at all tides has done much to enhance the desirability of this section. A bridge from Ferry hill to the opposite shore, reopening the old Colonial Highway, will unquestionably be one of the conveniences of the future.

Capt. Sylvanus Smith, who confesses to 83 years young, and family are at their Riverview cottage. The river has no more enthusiastic lover than Capt. Smith, one of the foremost citizens of the Cape, who is enjoying life at his cottage. The captain is frequently host to guests whom he entertains with launch and fishing trips along the river and bay. His son, Sylvanus Smith, Jr. and family are with him.

Justin W. Wharff and family of Brooklyn, N. Y., are this season, as last, occupying the Farmer cottage at Riverview. Mr. Wharff is a Gloucester boy who has made in good in a large way controlling one of the Kodak advertising devices, employing a large office staff in Boston and New York.

Robert H. Treadwell of Somerville is, as last season, occupying a cottage at Riverview.

Sullivan A. Sargent and family of Brookline have the Crowe cottage at Riverview this season.

William B.Hammond and family of Somerville are, as for some seasons past, occupying a cottage at Wolf hill.

Frank F. Smith and family of Gloucester are among the Wolf hill cottagers who are again at their summer home.

George H. Hudson and family of Winter Hill have taken a cottage at Wolf hill for another seaon.

Mrs. Emma P. Hadley and family of Somerville are occupying their Ferry hill cottage.

Alfred E. Smith and family of Somerville are at their Riverview summer home.

Mrs. J. E. Garland of Winchester and family are occupying their cottage at Riverview.

Mrs. Frances Chamberlain of Cambridge has opened her cottage at Riverview for the season.

The family of the late Dr. F. W. A. Bergengren, one of the earliest of the Ferry hill contingent, have arrived for the season.

Ernest F. Blatchford and family of Gloucester are at their Riverview place.

Frank S. Shurtleff and family of Boston are again occupying their Wolf hill cottage.

Capt. Sylvanus Smith of Gloucester has opened his Riverview cottage. Capt. Smith is one of the motor boat enthusiasts of these parts.

Miss Mary A. Armory of Kansas City, has joined Capt. and Mrs. Charles A. Littlefield for the rest of the season.

Robert E. Booram of New York arrived at the Oceanside Friday for several weeks stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Newell Tilton of Tuxedo Park, New York, registered at the Oceanside Friday, for a stay well into August.

Mrs. R.H. Robinson and Rosalind Robinson, George F. Robinson and Miss Bernstein, governess, of Washington, arrived at the Oceanside Friday, joining Mrs. Percefer Smith of Pittsburg.

Albert E. Merrall and Mrs. Caroline Merrall of New York are new comers at the Oceanside and have taken apartments in the Highland cottage and will remain the rest of the season.

Francis P. Sears of Boston spent the week end at the Oceanside with friends, the Whites, of Lowell.

Old time patrons of the Oceanside, returning for the rest of the season are, Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Boston.

The Green Gables club is proving one of the most desirable social adjuncts that Magnolia has had and its popularity with the discriminating has been attested from the first. This is evidenced every afternoon and evening by the large number of automobiles parked on the adjoining streets which have brought parties from all along the North Shore to enjoy the pleasant hospitality and camaraderie of the place. Evidently such an institution is to be a fixture here.

The management of the North Shore Grille Club reports a good business, many automobile and other parties enjoying its hospitality. Its tea room is also liberally patronized. The tea room, an exotic on the New England system of entertainment, has evidently come to stay. Among those who came down during the week were, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan, who motored down from their summer place at Swampscott, with Miss McGaffey and Michael O'Riordan, Mr. and Mrs. Royal R. Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Piper and others.

STARKNAUGHT HEIGHTS

Beautifully Located Property Overlooking Little Good Harbor Beach and Land's End Tracts

Starknaught Harbor is set down on old maps of Cape Ann near Little Good Harbor Beach. Just what the name signifies is not quite clear to present day antiquarians.

However it is most eligibly located for a summer home on high, gently rolling land, well drained, provided with city water, electric lights and within a short distance of the street car line which runs to Long beach. The old roads which lead over the tract are being improved and will furnish a part of the chain in the all shore drive which is being gradually completed.

A finer or more desirable situated property it would be hard to find. The view of the South shore from Bass Rocks to Land's End comprises a seascape across which passes the foreign and domestic commerce and pleasure craft to us from Boston and Gloucester. Little Good Harbor and Long beaches at the foot of this tract furnish the finest surf and still water bathing to be had on the coast. Here the east and southerly breezes first strike the land in all their refreshing coolness. To the north and west are the pine woods of Rockport and Gloucester giving every phase of sea and country scenery.

The "Ten Associates," a company of business men of Gloucester, are engaged in developing this property. Already they have built two first class summer homes which meet with ready rental and plans are drawn for others along similar lines. The entire property is in the hands of men of means who intend to develop the property along the most approved lines. They have put the tract on the market and the building lots are for sale under certain desirable restrictions. Sylvanus Smith, Jr. of the Associates, or any real estate broker of the city, will furnish any information desired in reference to the property.

Here is something bearing on this point of growth. A well known Boston business man, a resident of Bass Rocks, told me this down at the yacht club house the other night. He came down to Bass Rocks some 25 years ago to seek a summer home for his family and purchased a generous tract of the most eligibly situated land, after much solicitation, at a fraction of a cent a foot.

Then he put up a summer cottage.

A little later some one came along and said "Look here, So-and-so, if you don't buy that jib piece of land that butts on to your property, they'll cut it off for a street." So to protect himself he bought this triangular strip. A short time after another party came along. "So-and-so, I'm a friend of yours. The Southers have offered to sell me that lot of land here in front of yours, but I know if I build it will shut off your view. So I thought I'd come and see you and give you the first chance." So off he went. So-and-so, in high dudgeon, looked up Judge Sherman, then one of the trustees of the Souther estate, and bought the aforesaid lot. Then he came home, stood on his piazza and was exceeding wroth. "There," said he to his better half, "They've unloaded 70,000 feet of this barren Bass Rocks land on me but I'll be hanged if they get me to take another foot. They can't take any of our view now." A lapse of 25 years in the drama. Time, the present. Property not as eligibly located as that which was unwillingly thrust upon our hero of 65 has since sold for a dollar a foot. Moral: Some men when they tell this story have the courage to say that they were just kicked into good luck and refrain from alluding to their rare business foresight.

Now listen, listen, hard. There's just as good fish in the sea as was ever caught. Go over to Starknaught or Bass Rocks Heights or down to Squam at Rockholm, buy a generous strip of land for your children, for a wedding present, and forget about it. Or erect a cottage on it and rent. History is always repeating itself.

ROCKHOLM

IN ANNISQUAM

¶ To those who have not experienced the joys of a summer at Annisquam the following will be interesting and valuable.

ANNISQUAM has had a growth, especially during the past ten years, that has achieved the ideal combination for the summer home — beauty, cool comfort and simplicity with residences of high class. The best residential sections are reached by roads hidden from the casual tourist and for this reason the attractiveness of these sections is, perhaps, not fully realized.

ROCKHOLM is a large and beautiful tract, naturally and unusually adapted for fine summer homes. Every site is one of independent and varied attraction. The open sea, hills, rocks and woods give their best to Rockholm. Fine roads wind through this property from which the beauties of Annisquam may be seen at their best.

Miss Nellie Colman of Dorchester, Miss Catherine Donovan of Melrose, Miss Florence O'Leary of Malden, John O'Brien of Everett and Miss Mary Bradfield of Roxbury are guests of Mr. and Martin Evans, Jr., High street.

The new Hotel Edward at Pigeon cove is assured of a successful season now that its doors have been formally opened to the public. Most of the rooms have been engaged until the close. Considering the magnitude of the task of whipping things into shape the management has acheived a feat in getting the hostelry ready for this season at all. Most of the friction incident to getting an enterprise of this size into working order has been smoothed down and all departments are now running along nicely. Already it is the objective of many motor and tea parties, and promises to be aa most effective agency in more largely bringing Pigeon Cove to the notice of the summer resort public.
